From Eggleston Karen : Policy Challenges from Demographic Change in China and India before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Policy Challenges from Demographic Change in China and India:

The world's two most populous countries face numerous policy challenges from rapid demographic change, including gender imbalance, population aging, and rapid urbanization. Drawing on social science expertise from China, India, and the United States, the contributors examine the social and economic challenges for policy across a range of domains, from family planning and old-age support to human capital investment, poverty alleviation, and broader issues of governance.
